

Our Next Chapter

1

Believe in our mission.
Be part of our story.

Treatment that can change the course of a diagnosis. Technology that can revolutionize surgical techniques and transform patient outcomes. A new medical center that can give loved ones a fighting chance at a full recovery. A health system that can provide critical services closer to home.

Because of you, we can invest in better care, fund new facilities and save more lives. Our six Novant Health foundations have already accomplished great things. And, we're only just getting started. To impact the health of our communities, we'll need visionaries. Difference makers. And donors committed to writing our next chapter.

The power of philanthropy. The next chapter of care.

At Novant Health, we're in constant motion to do more on behalf of the communities we serve. One patient at a time. Every single day. We know that true impact comes not from new technologies and new buildings, but from the exceptional care they enable us to deliver. Novant Health foundations exist to make this higher standard a possibility. And a promise.

Because of major treatment advances in recent decades, more than 80 percent of children with cancer now survive five years or more.

Together, we're the catalyst in our health system's budget and operations.

By listening to the concerns of our physicians and staff, speaking to our patients and staying abreast of our communities' health, our care network can plan for the future — assessing where dollars are best spent and how far they can stretch. But sometimes, the need is too great. The asks are too many. And so, we turn our gaze outward, looking beyond the walls of our hospital for the funding that will propel our health system forward. We look to you, our generous supporters, to accelerate proposed timelines, to make happen in five years what might otherwise take 15. We ask you to believe in our vision, to see the gap between what is and what could be. And we ask you to truly invest in our communities.

Because of you, we've brought key technology acquisitions to health systems reaching across the mountains of Virginia and the shores of the Carolinas. We've financed everything from early disease detection outreach and community education to the expansion of key facilities and many new groundbreakings. These investments have built our capacity to provide truly remarkable patient experiences across a wide continuum of medical services. And they are only just the beginning. Yes, much has been done. But there is so much more to do. And our next chapter starts with you.

Thank you for your continued support,

Carl S. Armato
